Toll of Crash Still Unknown

By G. E. Mortimore

By mistake, somebody sent The Colonist the pros-pectus of a diamond-studded world safari for billionaires only. Billionaires are very scarce indeed in this office, but I threw caution to the winds and read.

"It's the stuff of which dreams are made: Ethiopian palaces, migrant Lapp colonies at the roof of the world, big game in Kenya, remote Hans Christian Andersen islands in Dennark, the Matterhorn, the Sahara, the Red Sea, the incredible blue of the Mediterranean, all viewed from such humble surroundings as a private railway train, a private yacht, individual private Cadillacs with chauffeur and lootman. ; giant flying boats, the Royal Suites in the plushest hotels, every improbable comfort your busy minds can conceive."

My first reaction was "Let's go." After all, I haven't

My first reaction was "Let's go." After all, I haven't taken my holidays yet. But then I read on:

"Unless your banker calls you 'Sir' and your nephew okays the company expense accounts, you most definitely can't afford this trip. The lid is going to blow off for 37 wonderful days, and a rigorous policy of penny-foolish-and-pound-foolish will reign. If you must even pause for one second to THINK about the financial side, this trip is not your dish of venetion here."

I paused to think for one second, and disqualified myself. Perhaps that was just as well. I have reason to believe that I might not have been accepted anyway. But Mr Fielding continued, in a personal tone which I found quite flattering:

"For your protection as well as for mine, all applicants."

Mr Fielding continued, in a personal tone which I found quite flattering:

"For your protection as well as for mine, all applicants are placed on our waiting list until they are screened... for compatibility, simplicity, good manners, good humor, good fum, plus the ability to grin when that connection is missed in Asmara, Eritrea, at 4.23 in the morning."

Well, I have never had the bad luck to miss a connection in Asmara. I have never trodden the senl of Eritrea, I regret to say. But I have missed connections in several other unlikely places, and my ill-tempered snarls had to be heard to be believed.

"A check on people of your stature is quite easy," Mr. Fielding graciously continued. If he was talking about me, his words were only too true.

"It does not matter if you happen to eat birdseed or collect Cora-Cola caps..., but we must draw the line at prima donnas, bores or nouveaux riches who don't know an olive fork from a toothpick... In Denmark, for example, we'll spend a night or two as non-paying guests in the castle of a Danish Baron and Baroness... and when these personal friends of mine wake up in the morning, all of their ashirays... have got to be there."

The trip is "exactly the sort of thing which overthrew the Russian Tsars, dissolved the Roman Empire and caused the French Revolution, but ... it's a lot of fun, and nuts to the Cominteen."

When I read that I threw my cloth cap in the air and furtively picked my teeth with an elive fork I happened to have in my pocket. Then I saw the date on the cover; July, 1931. I linge the view of the Matterborn was good. No doubt they'll have another such trip next year. If they wait for me to qualify, they'll wait a long time.

Can't Have It Both Ways

THE general assembly of the United Nations, in which there is no veta, voted decisively four times yesterday at its Paris convention to set aside Communist obstrucconvention to set asioc commissions obstractionist manocurves and get down to its agenda. That was not only in keeping with the temper of the times, but also marked the recession, of Communist moves which in August had dominated United Nations procedural affairs. Red China's claim to a seat on the security council while simultaneously attacking the United Nations forces in Korea attacking the United Nations forces in Korea was stiff-armed. The assembly voted to consider a complaint that Russia was aiding the argressor in Korea, where the United Nations long ago called for a cessation of hostilities. Yugoslavia's complaint against Russia was put firmly on the agenda; as were divergent proposals concerning a unified Germany and disarmament plans.

Clearly in focus now is the fact that Russia's long misuse of the veto in sessions of the security council to block the United Nations and to retard the peace of the world has been overcome by full-fashioned votes on the floor of the general assembly. Talies of 37 to 11; 30-8; 47-6; and 44-5 went against the Communist bloc yesterday as debate proceeded. There was no division on the discussion of rival disarmament plans. So it is clear that the general assembly intends to discuss. Korea, Yugoslavia, Germany and anything else that may find a logical plane any fining else that may find a logical blar of nits quenda, without procedural blocksde from any quarter. That is a gain for the freedom-loving nations of the world.

Once again it is evident that the Communist program before the United Nations is a wholly negative one. It consists in endeavors to block what other nations propose for the peace of the world. It sets up nothing of an alternative nature that could be considered even remotely practicable. nothing of an alternative nature that could be considered even remotely practicable. Its aversion to the open-door policy in international affairs and its insistence that things behind the iron curtain will remain tuseen do not convey any suggestion of plain dealing or good faith. It will be a relief to the free world if the United Nations proceeds with its own positive policy, and counts such negations out. The general assembly will have a good deal of backing it it now drives alread with its program and lets the chips fall where they may.

BECAUSE it has been able to show an increase this year in the volume of immigration from the United Kingdom, the Dominion government is trying hard to convince Canadians that this country is receiving an important share of the movement of population from Great Britain to other lands. It may be that by the year's end the total number of immigrants will be double that of 1950, but that in itself does not mean very much when it is remembered that the annual flow into Canada since the war has been almost negligible. In competition among Commonwealth and American countries for migrating Britons, Canada is still a poor last.

Official statistics published by the United Kingdom Board of Trade Journal show that last year 112,934 persons left the United Kingdom for other countries of the Commonwealth. Of the total, only a little more than one-tenth chose Canada, For all its vast size and potential opportunities for settlement. Canada could not hold its own even with and potential opportunities for settlement, Canada could not hold its own even with little New Zealand in the bidding for British Statistics of the movement of population are of real importance only in relation to net gains, and in this respect the figures quoted by the Board of Trade Journal show that Canada has been directing the flow into a leaking bucket. Although 13,434 persons came from the British Isles in 1950, almost 7,000 moved in the opposite direction. The net gain in population of British nationality was a mere 6,464. In the same period New Zealand's net gain was 7,472, while Australia's was 17,019, or more than seven times the gain shown by Canada, Moreover the figures refer only to movement between Great Britain and Canada, and do not take into account the tens of thousands of Canadians who left this country to settle in the United States and elsewhere.

In the face of the record it is misleading for the immigration department at Ottawa to talk of Canada doubling the inflow from the United Kingdom. One must look at the statistical picture as a whole to appreciate how little significance such loose statements possess.

What Young Canada Reads

SPECIAL displays of books for young readers will be made throughout Canada this week, in an effort to draw attention to the growing range of choice open to parents and others among works that are worth while and desirable from every standpoint. There can be no better antidote to the trash of the age, imported into this country to the detriment of all those who come into contact with its supercharged monsense. Undoubtedly, too, some of this moronic fare is manufactured at home by those who should know better. The natural instinct of every young person is for adventurous reading, but there is no reason why that should not be healthy and above-board in every way. On the contrary, there is a keen and positive need for good reading matter in the hands of those who will be the citizens of tomorrow. SPECIAL displays of books for young

It is here that the services of libraries and schools can be helpful; the former to make displays of suitable books, and the latter to draw attention to them. Without some such basic list the public often does not know what is available, nor the extent to which good reading is within the reach of every Canadian youngster. With the Christmans senson advancing, attention now to lovenile reading is limely and Yeang Canada Book Week has a definite mission to perform. As reading "maketh a full man," so the choice of what is read has a very great deal to do with the growth and development of every individual, Young minds are plastic, and impressions formed in youth remain for a lifetime. With so much at stake we should all see to it that only the best-of books get into the hands of those who are avid for knowledge.

What Young Canada reads will have much to do with what Canada thinks 20 years from now, The best is available, and through public libraries it is free.

Joan G.'s Skipper Blesses His Luck In Narrow Escape From Rocks

There's an old saying about everything happening for the best, and Capt. William Murray is inclined to agree.

About 10 p.m. last Saturday both englines in his 105-foot motor vessel, Joan G., failed when the vessel was about three miles off Port Renfrew on the West Coast. There was a heavy sea running and winds were on the increase. "We sent out a radio signal for help, and luckily for us it was picked up by a nearby tug.

It was the Island Challenger, powerful tug of Island Tug and Barge Ltd., that received the radio call. She was at Port Renardio call.

truck on her deck added to ms worries.

The Island Challenger reached the helpless Joan G. about midmight Saturday and brought her to Victoria. Because there was dynamite aboard, she was not allowed to enter the Inner Harbor. She was tied up at Ogden Point docks early Sunday morning, and the dynamite was transferred to the fishing vessel. Zorina and returned to the C.I.L. explosives plant at James Island. Yesterday, Capt. Murray recalled the fierce gale which swept this area Sunday morning. "If those engines, had conked out 25 hours later than they didwell, I guess we'd all be below.

3 BIG REASONS

for forty years of EMPRESS JAM POPULARITY

QUALITY ...

From the moment the fruit is picked the making of EMPRESS pure Jams is under the constant supervision of Experts. Years of experience are behind the high quality of EMPRESS products.

PURITY ...

For over forty years the EMPRESS LABEL has stood for all that is safe and pure in fine jams and Jellies. You won't be disappointed and you take no chances when you buy EMPRESS FLAVOR ...

Empress uses only perfect fruit . . . picked at the exact moment of meturity. Whole berries and perfect fruit with all their sun ripe goodness make EMPRESS Canada a Ravor-lavorite.

Manitoba swept the field in butter competition, the Manitoba Dairy and Poultry Co-operative being awarded the Grand and Re-serve champion titles.

The world potato champion is A. T. Hartwick of Walford Sta-tion Out.

The Weaker Sex

Two policemen in London carried a protesting 51 year old woman schoolleacher from the House of Commons after she and some 300 of her colleagues staged an "equal pay for women" demonstration in the lobby.

People in the News

Former actress Mary Pickford in Hollywood sued film producer Samuel Goldwyn for $115,000 in Superior Court, claiming he violated on agreement to keep a studio building they hold under a joint lease.

Straight from the canaries came word that the sound coming from the mouth of judge and canary expert Peter Greenall is a flute note. He was encouraging some of the 225 birds, all entered in the Victoria Roller Canary Club's sixth annual competition to sing. The birds may be viewed and heard by the public at the O.E.S. hall, Redfern Street, all day and evening Saturday.

It is still a man's world.
Only male canaries sing—apparently the female has nothing to sing about.

This authoritative word comes from a man who knows, canary judge and expert for more than 40 years, Peter Greenall, now judging the sixth annual Victoria Roller Canary Club show at the C.E.S. Hall on Redfern Street.
A careless bird can lose himber one from Belgium.

Birds entered are from all the western provinces of Canada and the eastern U.S. and there is even one from Belgium.

DODGE

or rough, level or hilly . . . there's a Dodge "Job-Rared" truck engineered to fit your job. If you now have too much power or capacity for your particular job, the surplus is being wasted — operating costs will be high. If you have too little power or capacity, the excess strain on your vehicle will result in heavy maintenance cost.

With a Dodge truck that has every unit from engine to rear axle "Joh-Rated" - factory-engineered to haul a specific load over the roads u travel and at the speeds you require nd maintenance costs will be reduced.
